Indian Pharmacological Society meet

GUWAHATI, Sept 9 – For the first time in the North East, IPS-Guwahati chapter along with Gauhati Medical College & Hospital and NIPER-Guwahati will host the Indian Pharmacological Society Conference-2014 (IPSCON-2014) in December. This was stated in a press release.

The conference will be graced by eminent personalities including eminent academics, scientists, clinicians, pharmacists and members of civil society to discuss the advances in the field and how they can be adapted for human welfare without compromising the environmental and ethical concerns. More than 400 research papers are to be presented and 150 scientists will participate as invited speakers in the conference. The conference will be a great boost in garnering interest of the national and international scientists, doctors and government scientific agencies to the various pharmaceutical research and educational programmes going on in the north-eastern region of the country. It will be hugely beneficial for human resource development in the North-east in many ways, the release added.
